Learning opportunities

Dungeon & Dragons

A message has been sent out from Queen Anoria to the far reaches of the realm. A darkness that blights the land, spreads drought and pestilence. Worse yet, monsters seem to be springing up and setting themselves upon innocent folk across the land. The Queen's soldiers have been sent into Thrace to investigate the source of this scourge, but none have returned. The Queen calls upon Adventurers from across her realm willing to risk life and limb for honour, wealth, and glory in ending this dark plague. (Actual adventure may not be exactly as described.)
